The goal of Bogs in Art is to encourage artists to learn about bogs around the world, and capture their beauty and mystery in art.

At least one bog plant (see list below) must be depicted or represented in your work(s).

As you contemplate the piece(s) you will create, keep in mind the meaning of 'depict' and 'represent.'

ALL levels & mediums are welcome! One need not create a precise rendition. For example, a tapestry bag made of light green fabric to represent sphagnum moss can be decorated with pink felt orchids and red beads to represent cranberries. It is all in how you tell your story and demonstrate your understanding of a bog.

So, what is a bog? Bogs are peatlands that receive primarily meteoric or 'sky water'— rain and snow. Their stagnant, low oxygen water becomes acidic due to the presence of sphagnum moss and other plants such as tamarack and black spruce. The low oxygen and high acidity limit decomposition causing peat to accumulate. When sequestered in a bog, peat does not release its nutrients, rendering bog soil rather stingy and sterile. These tough conditions limit the plants that can grow in bogs. Thus...

There's only ONE RULE:

At least one bog plant (from list below) must be depicted or represented in your work(s).

Sphagnum Moss	Atlantic White Cedar	Rose Pogonia	Pink Lady's Slipper	Labrador Tea	Bog Birch
Cinnamon Fern	Pitcher Plant	Grass Pink	Leatherleaf	Sheep Laurel	Little Bog Willow
Tamarack	Sundew	Dragon's Mouth	Highbush Blueberry	Bog Laurel	Other? Please
Black Spruce	Cotton Sedge	White Bog Orchid	Cranberry	Bog Rosemary	ASK first.

Works that do not include at least one of the above will not be accepted in Bogs in Art.

Bogs share plant species with other ecosystems so you may also include one or more of the following:

Arrowhead	Blueberry	Cattail	Marsh	Pussy Willow	Sensitive Fern	Water Lily	Winterberry
Bladderwort	Bog Buckbean	Indian Pipes	Cinquefoil	Royal Fern	Starflower	Water Shield	Others???

Those plants in italics (both lists) grow in Volo Bog. Other plants occur in bogs around the world and can also be included. If you do, please take time to learn about them to be sure they are appropriate associates with the bog indicators of the first list.

Learn about bogs around the world – Bogs are a north-country habitat - from Ireland to Russia, Alaska to Nova Scotia, south to Poland and northern Ohio, Indiana & Illinois. Attend a weekend guided tour of Volo Bog. Go to your library and ask for books about bogs. Search the web. Visit www.FriendsofVoloBog.org for links.
